David Tennant portrayed a person with a brain injury in the BBC Drama "Recovery". During his research he spent time at Headway Essex, and as a result became its Patron.

"I am absolutely delighted to be able to help Headway raise the profile of brain injury," said David. "While researching my role in Recovery, I spent time at Headway Essex where I observed some of the group sessions as well as chatting to some of the members. It was a truly humbling experience. There was so much hope, humour and positivity, mixed with occasional anger and sadness.

"It was a very powerful experience, seeing first-hand the effects brain injuries can have on people. It made me realise just how lucky I am and brings fresh meaning to the phrase 'there but for the grace of God go I'. Headway is a wonderful organisation and one I am only too happy to help," said David Tennant.
